

Code of Conduct

Members of the Snow Summit Race Team and their families are expected to take care of their equipment, uniform, and the race team premises as well as the ski area. They are expected to treat the member families, coaches and one another with respect and kindness. They will listen to their coaches and give their best effort to improving their conditioning and skills. Members will maintain a minimum of a 2.0 GPA for race team membership, as proven by school progress reports.

Certain specific behaviors will result in disciplinary action. Those offenses include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Disrespect of team members, coaches, parents, Club officials, Snow Summit employees or customers, etc.
- Profanity, especially in the Tyndall Haus or while in uniform at Snow Summit or other ski areas.
- Disobedience
- Smoking or the use of tobacco
- Physical violence or threats of physical violence
- Lying
- Stealing
- Use of narcotics, controlled substances, or alcohol
- Breaking rules at Snow Summit or other ski areas, such as jumping off of lift towers, skiing recklessly, throwing trash off the lift or elsewhere, “cutting” in lift lines, throwing objects or snow from the lift, snowball throwing, jumping in unauthorized or unsafe places, etc.
- Tampering with property or equipment, vandalism, or stealing from a team member, the Club, or Snow Summit.

Tyndall Haus Rules

1. The clubhouse is to remain locked at all times.
2. The clubhouse is only for the use of Club members. Please request that guests wait outside.
3. The adult Club members may sign to take the key out from the Snow Summit security office to allow racers in for training and must accompany them until the racers are out of the clubhouse. No racers are to be left unattended in the Tyndall Haus under any circumstances.
4. A member may request that an adult “guardian” be permitted to sign out keys for allowing racers into the clubhouse. The name of that “guardian” will be placed on the list with the security office upon board notification. No changes are to be made to the list in security except by the Ski Club President or membership chairman.
5. Adult members may escort guests into the clubhouse, but guardians may not bring guests.
6. Coaches may escort non-member guests into the clubhouse. Coaches’ spouses are considered non-member guests.
7. Only race team members’ and coaches’ equipment may be stored in the clubhouse.
8. Only racers, coaches, and member parents may use the tuning table.
9. When the Club sponsors a race at Snow Summit, these rules modify to include individuals with race business to be permitted to conduct their business in the clubhouse.
10. All club members shall be responsible for the enforcement of these rules.

Duties of Race Team Parents

All parents’ duties include:

1. Prompt delivery of racers to and from the clubhouse
 - A. Although preferred parking is not available to race team parents, race team families are allowed to use their “Drop Off” pass to deliver their racer or pick him up. Remember that parking in the “Drop Off” area is limited to 10 to 15 minutes.
2. No smoking or drinking of alcoholic beverages in the clubhouse
3. Attendance at all general meetings
4. Keeping informed of what is going on with the club by reading newsletters, checking in the clubhouse for posted notices, and contacting the events tape recording by calling (909) 866-5207.
5. If your child is injured in any manner or under any circumstance, it is your obligation to ensure that he/she is healed before returning to practice or participating in racing. If your child sustains any head injury, we strongly advise that you see a doctor for medical clearance.

Discipline

A Disciplinary Committee made up of Board and Snow Summit representatives will enforce these basic rules, as outlined in the contract between Snow Summit and the Club. For relatively minor offenses in the opinion of the coaching staff, discipline can be handled at that time by the loss of skiing privileges or loss of Clubhouse privileges. If a racer’s pass is pulled for the day or a racer is asked to leave the clubhouse, the race team administrator will become involved and a written record of each offense will be kept in the athlete’s personal folder by the administrator.

I have read, understand, and agree to follow the Snow Summit Race Team Code of Conduct.
