

Travel Code of Conduct

All behavioral rules which apply to SSRT members at home also apply when they are traveling.

- Transportation of racers can only be provided by the team travel parent or the SSRT team coach. These adults have submitted their driving record to the team auto insurance company and are therefore qualified to transport the racers. There can be no exceptions.
- Racers need to be responsible for their own equipment and must not use other racers' equipment without their express permission.
- All traveling racers must be responsible to the needs and directions of the adult supervisors and coaches.
- While traveling, racers must be respectful of the property in which they stay. It must be kept clean and orderly at all times.
- Adherence to the coaches' schedule, whether it be training, meeting with team members and coaches, or activities on the hill is a necessity at all times.
- Serious disciplinary violations can result in the immediate suspension of the racer from participating in the event at which they have traveled. In some cases, racers may even be sent home.
- No person involved in team travel may possess alcoholic beverages in the living quarters of the racers, team travel parents, or coaches.
- Any disciplinary problems on team travel will be reported immediately upon return (or during the event) to the race team administrator.
- As representatives of the team and Snow Summit, excellent sportsmanship must be demonstrated at all times.

I have read, understand, and agree to follow the Snow Summit Race Team Travel Code of Conduct.
