2020 MOUNTAIN BIKE CAMPS

Camps will be 5 hours long. They will provide 4.5 hours of instruction/riding plus a 30-minute lunch break. Head Coach, Ian Odom, is a professional racer and certificated instructor through ICP Bike. Sara Schacht will be working with the younger riders. Both Ian and Sara are professional coaches with current "Safe Sport" certification.

The camps are for riders with skills from beginners to advanced who wish to focus on bettering their technical bike skills. When ready, they will expand their focus to jumping, advanced cornering skills, rock garden proficiency, and line choice.

Fees: Campers will progress faster with more practice, so we are offering an incentive for attendance at more than one day or one camp.

The cost is $75 per day, or $140 for the weekend ($15.55/hour) per rider.

The 2nd weekend costs $130 ($14.44/hour) per rider.

The 3rd weekend costs $120 ($13.33/hour) per rider.

4 or more weekends cost $110 ($12.22/hour) per rider.

😊 Hint: If you sign up for one weekend, it will cost $140. If you later sign up for a second weekend, it will cost $130.

If you sign up for two weekends up front, both weekends will cost $130 each.

Campers will need: A mountain bike with front and rear brakes, a helmet, gloves, sunblock, goggles/sunglasses, a snack, a lunch or money to purchase a lunch, a refillable water bottle or Camelback, and a bike park ticket or pass. They may also want to wear elbow and knee pads.

We will be following accepted health guidelines and requiring face masks for riders not using full-face helmets. We will do a no-contact temperature scan of participants prior to participation. We will also be keeping camp size small enough to allow for small groups.
